

PETER VANDERWARKER'S TUSCANY WORKSHOP

MAY 17–MAY 24, 2015
Montestigliano, Italy

The workshop format is simple: two short lectures on technique and vision in the morning, and critique sessions of student work (with superb wine) in the evening.

We have two instructors for ten photographers. The setting is sublime. The food is divine.

Montestigliano, a large farm estate in Tuscany, is a magical place. Those lucky enough to spend time there enter an alternative world, slowing down, savoring its sweet beauty, and enriching their souls.

For photographers, it is a rich place, venerable olive groves, cypress avenues, and ancient masonry buildings and walls. The light quality is wonderful.

Montestigliano, only a few kilometers south of Siena, is within easy reach of numerous charming hill towns that invite exploration.

Participants in this photography course occupy Villa Pipistrelli, a magnificently restored 17th century farmhouse on the Monestigliano Estate.

The house combines many of the rustic features of the original architecture with elegant and eclectic interiors and modern conveniences.

Guests can stroll through the garden and park, or relax on the stone patio surrounding a wonderful infinity pool. Oh, and did we mention that the food is homemade and fantastic?
